

It's all (Business) class in Wyndham

Students in the Business Class at Kimberley Training Institute recognise their success for 2011. As they work toward gaining qualifications, they celebrate and acknowledge the skills they are learning along the way.

The flexible delivery classroom in Wyndham is the learning environment for all levels of experience. This style of delivery means that students can also study online from home or the campus at anytime that suits their schedules.

One student, Bill Kanatabua says, "I am learning how to operate a personal computer and it's opening up the world for me. At first I thought computers were no longer useful to me as I am over the hill. Now I realise I cannot be an ostrich hiding my head in the sand. I have to go with developments and operating a computer is the way to go in the modern world."

Back L-R Dennis Corpus, Deanella Purdie, Mary Thompson, Bill Kanatabua Front L-R Raelene Williams, Jenny Fittler, Anthony Wiltshire
Top Insert Alu D'Anna – Bottom Insert – Ted Birch

Students develop basic computer, finance and communication skills required in the administrative workforce or build on their existing office and administration skills. Each student has a tailored pathway to suit their goals.

Lisa Hazell, Business Lecturer for Kimberley Training Institute says "It's an absolute pleasure to assist each of these students to complete their units and achieve success. I look forward to lecturing in 2012."

Classes for 2012 will be held each Tuesday from 8.30 am to 12.30 pm. Interested? Secure your place today by contacting Kimberley Training Institute at Wyndham Campus, telephone 91610333.
